

JAMIE OLIVER

BARBECOA

ADAM PERRY LANG

FLOOR STAFF WANTED NOW!

Jamie Oliver and the American Chef Adam Perry Lang have opened a new restaurant concept with a separate butchery called Barbecoa.

They have combined their individual cooking styles and passion for impeccably sourced meat with their mutual fascination for traditional, artisanal cooking techniques. The result is beautiful food influenced by natural cooking methods from around the world, using fire, wood and charcoal as the primary cooking sources.

Dinning at Barbecoa is an amazing experience, and we need floor staff to help deliver this experience through excellent service and a contagious personality.

We are looking for passionate and motivated floor staff with tons of personality to join our family

If you have some a great personality, some relevant experience and a love for excellent food and service, we would love to hear from you!

In return for your talents, we'll provide you with a competitive salary and an amazing opportunity to develop your career!

If you have what it takes please send your CV and a covering letter to careers@Barbecoa.com

Look forward to hearing from you !

